1 Introduction

This Manual is published in terms of Section 51 of the Promotion of Access to Information Act, 2000 (Act No. 2 of 2000) ("the Act"). The Act gives effect to the provisions of Section 32 of the Constitution, which provides for the right of access to information held by the State and to information held by another person that is required for the exercise and/or protection of any right.

The reference to any information in addition to that specifically required in terms of Section 51 of the Act does not create any right or entitlement (contractual or otherwise) to receive such information, other than in terms of the Act.

2 Purpose

PAIA fosters a corporate culture of transparency and accountability, within the context of the protection of personal information. In this regard, the provisions of the Protection of Personal Information Act 4 of 2013) are also relevant whenever a request for information is received.

In terms of PAIA, if a person other than a government department or agency requests information from a private body, such information may only be provided if:

- 1) the information is requested to protect a right;
- 2) the person requesting the information complied with the procedural requirements of that private body relating to such requests for information; and
- 3) there is no ground on which to refuse access to such information.

With the above provisions in mind, the Act requires private bodies to compile a PAIA manual to assist in the exercise of right to information.

3 The Wonga Online PAIA manual

A copy of this Manual is available by sending a request for a copy to the Information Officer by email. The Manual may also be obtained from the South African Human Rights Commission ("SAHRC") at the addresses set out below. This Manual will be updated from time to time, as and when required.

4 Who may Request Access to Information

In terms of section 2 of This PAIA Manual, a requester, in relation to a private body, means:

- any person, including, but not limited to, a public body or an official thereof, making a request for access to a record of that private body; or
- a person acting on behalf of the person contemplated in below paragraph.

The above means that, a requester may act on behalf of a person in making a request for a record.

In terms of section 53(2)(d) of the Act, a request for access must at least require the requester concerned to identify the right the requester is seeking to exercise or protect and provide an explanation of why the requested record is required for the exercise or protection of that right.

In essence, PAIA provides that a requester will be entitled to access to a record if the record is required for the exercise or protection of a right.

Requests can be made:

- as a personal requester;
- an agent of a requester on behalf of someone else
- as a third party seeking information.
